Undergraduate Student Awards

Aldred Family Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/aldred-scholarship.html>

The Aldred Family Scholarship was established in 2014 by departmental alum Keith Aldred, M.D., and his wife, Melissa, also an IU alum, to support undergraduate scholarships for premed students with a declared major from the IUB Department of Biology. The scholarship honors Keith's father, Allen W. Aldred, M.D., and his late brother, Stephen W. Aldred, M.D., who also earned a degree from our department.

Recipient: Niki Mirhosseini

Barwe/Rexing Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/barwe-rexing-scholarship.html>

The award is open to IUB Direct Admit students who are earning a declared major from the IUB Department of Biology and are in their first year on the Bloomington campus at the time of application. This award is renewable for two additional academic years, providing the recipient remains in good academic standing. The Barwe/Rexing Scholarship was established by departmental alum Mary Rose "Rosie" Rexing Hall. It honors three generations of Barwe/Rexing women: Rexing Hall herself; her mother, Adeline Barwe; her sister, Diane Relleke; and her daughter, Stephanie Rexing, also a departmental alum.

Recipients: Samantha Worthington, Lily Colvin

William G. Roessler Microbiology Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/roessler-scholarship.html>

The Roessler Microbiology Scholarship is open to academically gifted undergraduates in the Department of Biology who are majoring in microbiology. This opportunity was established in 2004 via a bequest from departmental alum William G. Roessler (1918-2003), who was a noted microbiologist at Fort Detrick and later worked for the Environmental Protection Agency. Dr. Roessler's son, William D. Roessler, and daughter-in-law, continue to support this opportunity.

Recipient: Lily Colvin

Biology Undergraduate Research Award

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/bio-ugrad-research-award.html>

The Department of Biology created the Biology Undergraduate Research Award in 1988 to encourage undergraduate students to engage in independent research projects and to provide them with experience writing research papers. Cook Incorporated of Bloomington, Indiana, now funds the award. The company started making wire guides, needles, and catheters and has now blossomed into one of the largest producers of medical devices in the world. A copy of the recipient's research paper is sent to David P. Biggs, Director of Business Development at Cook, who serves as our liaison with the company and is an alum of our department.

Recipient: Sophia Ren

Mentor: Professor Tuli Mukhopadhyay

Paper: Host-specific inter-dimeric spike contacts in Alphaviruses

Blatchley Nature Study Club Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/blatchley-scholarship.html>

This award is open to IUB Department of Biology majors who are undergraduates or graduate students in the areas of Plant Biology or Ecology and Evolutionary Biology. This scholarship was established in 1989 by the Blatchley Nature Study Club, in keeping with its mission to promote educational study and scientific research of the natural sciences.

Recipient: Haiz Webb

Howard W. Clark Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/clark-scholarship.html>

This scholarship was established by the late Prudence L. Clark for the purpose of encouraging scholarship in botany, soil building, and plant breeding. The award honors her husband departmental alumnus Howard Walton Clark, who was curator of ichthyology for the California Academy of Sciences at the time of his death in 1941.

Recipient: Haiz Webb

Fred Seward Award

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/seward-award.html>

This undergraduate opportunity is open to departmental majors who work in ecology, environmental biology, or in sustainable forestry or gardening through curricula, research, or outreach. The award was created by the George E. Archer Foundation to honor the memory of Indiana University alumnus, track star, and local businessman Fred Seward.

Recipient: Haiz Webb

William J. Tatum Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/tatum-scholarship.html>

Open to academically talented undergraduates earning a declared major through the Department of Biology. William J. Tatum (1932-1981), who served in the U.S. Navy during the Korean War, completed his IU education thanks to the G.I. Bill, earning two degrees: a B.S. in Education (Biological Sciences) in 1961 and an M.A. for Teachers (Biology) 1966. He taught biology and general science to seventh and eighth graders in Bloomington-area schools throughout his career. Mr. Tatum hoped his scholarship would serve to encourage new generations of science students.

Recipient: Haiz Webb

Carl H. Eigenmann Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/eigenmann-scholarship.html>

Open to any undergraduate with a declared major from the IUB Department of Biology interested in zoological or other biological research. The scholarship is funded through a bequest by his daughter, Adele Rosa Eiler, M.D. (1896-1978), to honor her father, Professor Carl H. Eigenmann (1863-1927), who was a distinguished researcher of fishes and evolution. Dr. Eiler was head of the Los Angeles County Health Department and was on staff at the Children's Hospital there.

Recipient: Darby Tassell

Fox Glen Research and Education Fund Award

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/fox-glen-award.html>

This award encourages undergraduate participation in research and awards a prize to the best research paper presented in the form of a publishable manuscript. This prize was made possible thanks to biologist John Sinclair (1935-1991), a member of our faculty for 23 years, who was a strong advocate of undergraduate research. His son, Eric D. Sinclair, and daughter-in-law, continue to support this prize.

Recipient: Alyssa Saunders

Mentor: Associate Professor Troy Smith

Paper: A comparison of chirping as an agonistic signal in gregarious and territorial species of weakly electric fish.

John R. and Wendy L. Kindig Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/kindig-scholarship.html>

Recognizes academically superior Department of Biology majors. The Kindigs met at Indiana University where they earned undergraduate degrees in Biology and Chemistry respectively and medical degrees from the School of Medicine. Both were successful physicians before their retirements. The couple supports undergraduate scholarships in various science units within the College of Arts and Sciences and they plan to eventually support graduate students as well.

Recipients: Kyra Colston, Zoe Fifer, Rebecca L McAvoy, Kaitlyn Ross

George M. Malacinski Biology Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/malacinski-scholarship.html>

This award supports talented students earning an undergraduate major from our department. Established in 2014 by IU alumnus, Tin Sien "Philip" Chua to honor retired IU Department of Biology faculty member, George M. Malacinski, who is known for his research in gene expression in early amphibian embryogenesis. Mr. Chua worked in the Malacinski lab as a budget analyst while he was earning his MBA.

Recipient: Luke Schmitt

Dr. L.S. McClung Scholarship in Microbiology

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/mcclung-scholarship.html>

The Dr. L.S. McClung Scholarship supports undergraduates earning a Microbiology major will work in the field of microbiology or plan to pursue an advanced degree in that field. This Dr. L.S. McClung Scholarship was established in 1987 by departmental alum Cornelius F. Sterling (1920-2002) to honor his mentor, Professor Leland S. McClung (1910-2000), who was internationally known for his research on anaerobic bacteria. Mr. Sterling was an early pioneer of technological innovations for plastic packaging components and systems used in pharmaceutical and consumer products applications.

Recipients: Abby Frederick, Mary Slaughter

Alfred Parson Mower Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/mower-fellowship.html>

The Alfred Parson Mower Scholarship is open to undergraduates earning a declared major from the IU Department of Biology. Departmental alum Tracy Lawhon, created the Alfred Parson Mower Scholarship in honor of her grandfather, who funded her education. Ms. Lawhon earned an undergraduate degree in Microbiology from our department, as well as a J.D. in Law from IUPUI. Thanks to her grandfather's help, she has had a distinguished career in the pharmaceutical and biotech industries. She is a big promoter of STEM initiatives. Ms. Lawhon also funds the Alfred Parson Mower Fellowship for departmental majors.

Recipient: Piper Zola

Outstanding Honors Thesis Award

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/outstanding-honors-thesis-award.html>

Each year, the department asks faculty members to nominate undergraduates with declared majors from the IUB Department of Biology who are writing exemplary Honors Theses to receive the Outstanding Honors Thesis Award.

Recipient: Alex Fitt

Mentors: Associate Professor Jason Tennessen and Ph.D. Candidate Nader Mahmoudzadeh

Thesis: The oncometabolite L-2-hydroxyglutarate is a common product of dipteran larval development

Sid Robinson Biology Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/robinson-scholarship.html>

Recognizes academically gifted undergraduates who have an undergraduate major from our department. Recipients are eligible for renewal of this award for up to two more years provided they continue to excel. This scholarship was created by IU alum Jean Robinson Peters to honor the memory of her father, Sid Robinson, an Olympic track star who became an internationally famous exercise and environmental physiologist.

Recipients: Gabrielle Boulet, Matthew Ross

Teaching Awards

Michael R. Tansey Outstanding Undergraduate Teaching Assistant Award

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/tansey-outstanding-uta-award.html>

Faculty members nominate Undergraduate Teaching Assistants, or UTA teams, who have made outstanding contributions to the department's teaching mission. The award honors mycologist Michael Tansey, who retired in 2017 after serving 46 years on our faculty. Tansey is known for his dedicated teaching and his mentoring of undergraduates.

Recipient: Alli McCarty

Course: BIOL-L 111 Foundations of Biology: Diversity, Evolution, and Ecology

Instructor: Lecturer Tara Darcy

Albert Ruesink Outstanding Associate Instructor Teaching Award in Biology

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/ruesink-award.html>

The Albert Ruesink Outstanding Associate Instructor Teaching Award in Biology was created by Professor Albert Ruesink (1940-2014) and his wife, Kathleen Ruesink, in 2013 to promote and recognize excellent teaching by graduate students teaching in the IUB Department of Biology. For nearly two decades Professor Ruesink supervised the department's introduction to curriculum and teaching for graduate students preparing to be associate instructors. Mrs. Ruesink was a popular University Division academic advisor here at IU before her retirement.

Recipient: Katie Beidler

Course: BIOL-L 473 Ecology

Instructor: Lecturer Tara Darcy

Recipient: Zoe Dinges

Course: BIOL-S 318 Honors Evolution

Instructor: Distinguished Professor Curt Lively

Recipient: Blake D. Petersen

Course: BIOL-M 250 Microbiology

Instructor: Assistant Professor Julia van Kessel

Senior Class Award for Teaching Excellence in Biology and Dedication to Undergraduates

Established by the Biology Club in 1979 to honor outstanding departmental faculty. The undergraduate advising office solicits nominations from departmental seniors each year on behalf of the club.

Recipient: Senior Lecturer Susan Hengeveld

Courses: BIOL-L 111 Foundations in Biology: Diversity, Evolution, and Ecology
BIOL-L 376 Biology of Birds

Recipient: Professor Armin Moczek

Course: BIOL-Z 373 Entomology

Graduate Student Awards

Avian, Wildlife, and Habitat Studies Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/avian-wildlife-scholarship.html>

Open to any graduate student earning a major through the IUB Department of Biology graduate student who is in good academic standing and is involved in avian, wildlife, or habitat studies research. Funded by an Indiana attorney in honor of his parents who taught their children the wonder of nature.

Recipient: Richard Hull

George W. Brackenridge Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/brackenridge-fellowship.html>

Open to any graduate student earning a degree from the IUB Department of Biology who is engaged in field work. IU alum George W. Brackenridge (1832-1920) made this award possible. He was a banker, business leader, and philanthropist who resided in San Antonio, Texas.

Recipient: Ashwini Ramesh

Robert Briggs Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/briggs-fellowship.html>

Open to any senior graduate student in an IUB Biology graduate program whose research focuses on developmental biology. The fellowship honors the late Robert W. Briggs' innovative contributions to developmental biology during his 40-year research career, which provided the groundwork for research on cloning metazoan animals and the genetic control of pattern development.

Recipients: Ishara Ariyapala, Claude B. Jean-Guillaume, Yasaman Heidarian

Walter A. Konetzka Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/konetzka-fellowship.html>

Open to any IUB graduate student Microbiology majors. Second preference to GCDB, Genetics, or Biochemistry graduate students, if their research is in the area of Microbiology. Recipients must have superb teaching abilities and strong research skills. The fellowship, honors Konetzka, a skilled scientist who earned many teaching awards during his 37-year career at Indiana University.

Recipient: Asha A. Philip

Floyd Award for Outstanding Publication in Microbiology

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/floyd-micro-publication-award.html>

Open to any graduate student performing research in microbiology. Publication must have been accepted for publication within the last year and must be in a peer-reviewed journal. This prize is funded thanks to a bequest from Dixie Westlake Floyd, the wife of Colonel Bayard Franklin Floyd that supports various initiatives in both microbiology and plant sciences.

FIRST PRIZE

Recipient: Asha A. Philip

Publication: Expression of Separate Heterologous Proteins from the Rotavirus NSP3 Genome Segment Using a Translational 2A Stop-Restart Element.

SECOND PRIZE

Recipient: Catherine Klancher

Publication: ChiS is a noncanonical DNA-binding hybrid sensor kinase that directly regulates the chitin utilization program in Vibrio cholerae.

THIRD PRIZE

Recipient: Stephanie L Gummersheimer

Publication: Reovirus Core Proteins  $\lambda 1$  and  $\sigma 2$  Promote Stability of Disassembly Intermediates and Influence Early Replication Events

Carl H. Eigenmann Biology Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/eigenmann-eiler-fellowship.html>

Open to any graduate student earning a degree from the IUB Department of Biology. Dr. Carl H. Eigenmann was a distinguished researcher of fishes and evolution. Unofficially known as the Eigenman/Eiler Fellowship, the scholarship is a bequest of Eigenmann's daughter, Adele Rosa Eiler, M.D.

Recipients: Ford Fishman, Mark Greci, and Payel Paul

Dean Fraser Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/fraser-fellowship.html>

Open to any IUB Biology graduate student in good academic standing, with preference given to those interested in microbiology. This opportunity was established in 2012 by Judith Bland, Ph.D., a former student of Dr. Fraser's, to honor her mentor. Dr. Bland earned both her master's degree and Ph.D. from IU and had a long research career with Merck.

Recipient: Blake D. Petersen

Dona G. Graam Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/graam-fellowship.html>

The Graam Fellowship supports female graduate students who are engaged in research work in zoology.

Recipient: Misty Proffitt

Charles Heiser Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/heiser-fellowship.html>

Open to any IUB Department of Biology graduate student in plant evolution. Established in 2002, this opportunity honors Distinguished Emeritus Professor Charles Heiser (1920-2018), who was a leading authority on sunflowers and a renowned ethnobotanist.

Recipient: Lana Bolin

Louise Constable Hoover Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/hoover-fellowship.html>

Open to senior evolution, ecology, and behavior graduate students who are at least in their third year. Established in 1983 by Michael H. Schatzlein, M.D., in honor of his grandmother. Dr. Schatzlein earned a B.S. in biological sciences from IU in 1971 and an M.D. from the IU School of Medicine in 1974.

Recipients: Megan Freiler, Kayleigh Hood, Katie Talbott

George Hudock Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/hudock-fellowship.html>

Open to graduate students earning a major from the IUB Department of Biology who are in good academic standing with preference given to qualified master's candidates and those seeking financial assistance for special seminars or training. Established in 1993 by departmental alum Fern (Hays) DeLaCroix and her husband, Clifford, to honor her mentor, Dr. George Hudock (1937-2015), for his outstanding teaching and academic counsel.

Recipient: Emmi Mueller

Alfred Parson Mower Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/mower-fellowship.html>

The Alfred Parson Mower Scholarship is open to any graduate student with a declared major from IUB Biology and who is in good academic standing. Departmental alum Tracy Lawhon, created the Alfred Parson Mower Fellowship in honor of her grandfather, who funded her education. Ms. Lawhon earned an undergraduate degree in Microbiology from our department, as well as a J.D. in Law from IUPUI. Thanks to her grandfather's help, she has had a distinguished career in the pharmaceutical and biotech industries. She is a big promoter of STEM initiatives.

Recipient: Roy Z. Moger-Reischer

William R. Ogg Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/ogg-fellowship.html>

This fellowship is open to outstanding Department of Biology doctoral students whose research focuses on problems in the field of plant or fungal biology and who are in the final year of their degree program. Frederic A. Ogg, a political scientist from the University of Wisconsin, left a bequest to create this award in honor of his father, William Ross Ogg (1851-1948), an IU groundskeeper.

Recipient: Katie Beidler

Frank W. Putnam Research Fellowship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/putnam-fellowship.html>

Open to any advanced-level graduate students in the Department of Biology or Biochemistry in good academic standing earning a Ph.D. in cell biology or biochemistry and whose research emphasizes immunology, protein chemistry, or human oncology. Made possible by IU alumni Victor and Lin-Dee Liu who created this fellowship to honor Victor's faculty mentor, Frank Putnam, who served on our faculty for 23 years.

Recipient: Jade M. Katinas

William G. Roessler Microbiology Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/roessler-scholarship.html>

Open to any IUB Department of Biology graduate student majoring in Microbiology in good academic standing. This opportunity was established in 2004 via a bequest from departmental alum William G. Roessler (1918-2003), who was a noted microbiologist at Fort Detrick and later worked for the Environmental Protection Agency. Dr. Roessler's son, William D. Roessler, and daughter-in-law, continue to support this opportunity.

Recipient: Jin Dai

Milton Taylor Fellowship in Virology

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/taylor-fellowship.html>

Open to any IUB graduate student majoring in Biology or Biochemistry who is engaged in virology research. Microbiology alum Lawrence Blatt, Ph.D., created this fund to honor his former teacher and mentor, Professor Milton Taylor, a member of our faculty from 1967–2010.

Recipients: Jin Dai, Christine Kim

Fred Seward Award

<https://biology.indiana.edu/alumni-giving/seward-award.html>

This opportunity to open to any graduate students with a major from the Department of Biology who are in good academic standing and who work in ecology, environmental biology, or in sustainable forestry or gardening through curricula, research, or outreach. The award was created by the George E. Archer Foundation to honor the memory of Indiana University alumnus, track star, and local businessman Fred Seward.

Recipient: Emma L. Boehm

Other Student Awards Earned

Barry M. Goldwater Scholarship

<https://biology.indiana.edu/news-events/news/2021/duro-goldwater-scholar.html>

Established by Congress in 1986 to honor soldier and statesman Senator Barry M. Goldwater. The purpose of the Barry M. Goldwater Scholarship and Excellence in Education Foundation is to provide a continuing source of highly qualified scientists, mathematicians, and engineers by awarding scholarships to college students who intend to pursue careers in these fields.

Recipient: Eduardo Duro

Phi Beta Kappa

<https://pbk.indiana.edu>

Phi Beta Kappa is the nation's oldest and most prestigious academic honor society for students in the arts and sciences. Only a very select number of students at member institutions throughout the country are elected annually. Election into PBK reflects prolonged outstanding academic achievement during our students' time at IU and is a truly great achievement and honor.

Kate Hevner Mueller Outstanding Senior Award

Kate Hevner Mueller served Indiana University from 1937 to 1969 as dean of women, senior counselor for women, and a professor of education. The Kate Hevner Mueller Outstanding Senior Awards were established in 2013 to honor IU seniors who have provided leadership on campus both inside and outside of the classroom and who have improved the IU community by their presence.

Herman B Wells Award

Herman B Wells served as president of Indiana University from 1937 to 1962 and then as chancellor until his death in 2000. A beloved leader of uncommon vision and generosity, his legacy continues to permeate every corner of the university. The Indiana Memorial Union Board of Directors created the award in 1961 to honor an outstanding senior who has excelled academically and is an established leader within the IU community.

Recipient: Asmaa Mahoui

Provost's Award for Undergraduate Research and Creative Activity

This award recognizes outstanding achievement in research and creative activity by undergraduate students as well as the importance of these experiences on campus.

Recipient: Meghan Russell

Lawrence M. Blatt Internship

Lawrence Blatt is a departmental alumnus. This award provides scholarships for science majors in the College of Arts + Sciences who have secured internships with life science corporations and research centers.
